WANDERLUST IS SEIZING GIRLS FROM THE EAST
 (By Associated Press)
 NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The wanderlust, sometimes called the wanderlust, has become epidemic among eastern girls of debutante years. Not a few of them are tramping across the continent this summer, gathering an occasional "life" from khaki, automobile tourists and walking the road of the way. So-called wanderlust, khaki trousers and the will to work when the purse strings are loosened characterizes most of them.
 Some of these eastern girls declare they find the west safer for young women than New York city. Rebecca Friedman and Myra Leanne, former students of Syracuse University, who recently hiked from the Pacific to their homes here, praised the western men so highly that their mothers began praying that their daughters would not get any of "those crazy ideas of wandering across the country" into their heads.
 Florence Rosen and Gladys Zimmerman of New York reached Los Angeles a few days ago after a long tramp across the continent, broken by jobs of stretching octaves as typewriters whenever funds ran low. They liked the open air life so well that they immediately began saving up for a return jaunt.
 Hoops for the modern skirt would amount to a tremendous saving in hoops.
 Many women who began as wanderlusts are now holding excellent positions where their library training proved the essential in their new work.
 As the librarians can as yet look for want at best to hardly more than $1,500 a year, the best trained and more ambitious women are following the commercial path.
 But a librarian's training is proving to be excellent for other work. Many girls do not stop at organizing special libraries for their new employers. They go on to become heads of departments, undertake the installing of business systems, of filing and cataloging, and even run offices of their own.

LYRICS OF LIFE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

BRavery.
 ALL bravery is not in death—
 However glad and glorious—
 To breathe the gases' toxic breath,
 Among the clouds a bird to be,
 Or to go down within the sea—
 Oh, it is brave to battle thus,
 And yet not all of bravery,
 There is some bravery in life
 That never wins the world's applause:
 There is no thrill in daily strife
 To set our pulses leaping high—
 Yet braver men may live than die,
 May suffer more in some glad cause
 Than they who now in slumber lie.
 All bravery is merely this:
 To live or die, as fate demands.
 But living, dying, never miss
 The duty. Conscience makes no plan:
 To know the right, the right
 maintain.
 Although it lose us life or lands
 And pay no recompense but pain.
 To face old Death amid men's cheers,
 Yes, that is bravery indeed—
 But to fight on through losing years,
 Some unencumbered task to do,
 Believe when none believe in you.
 In public strife, in secret bleed—
 May God not count this something, too?

Knitted Wear to the Fore

It is surprising that someone did not think of it sooner, now that knitted skirts, suits and one-piece frocks have supplemented the indispensable sweater and scarf. The knitted type frock, its entry this season and bids fair already to divide honors with the sweater. These frocks are made in both quiet and high colors, with deep collars of angora wool, in white or colors and are worn as sweaters and sweater-covers are by young and old. They are a distinct asset in the wardrobe, and have come to stay for some time. The introduction of accordion plaiting in these knitted garments means a great deal, in additional beauty and "class" to them.
 One of the new models in knitted suits is shown in the picture above, which succeeds in being so simple that words are hardly needed to describe it. The skirt and coat are bordered with narrow stripes knitted in a contrasting color. The skirt and the belt are not ribbed and are knit in a same stitch without the drop-shoulder crease which emphasizes the skirt and coat. Detachable scarfs to match or contrast colors that are extended to the waist ends, as in the suit shown here, are among the late offerings in some of this kind. The cool sweater, a practical pair of loose-fitting trousers and a vest as a sweater-contrast with other skirts.
 These knitted clothes are made far outlasting and have caught the attention of women everywhere. They are smart and dependable and are at ready hand in all climates and all times. Who is Swift & Company?
 Swift & Company is not a one man or one family affair. It is a company owned by more than 40,000 people scattered over the face of the globe—forty thousand shareholders with voting powers and a share in the risks and profits of the business.
 Most of the forty thousand live here in the United States. But some of them live in France, some in England, others in the Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska.
 13,000 of them are women.
 Nearly 14,000 of them are employees.
 The average individual holdings are small—about 37 shares apiece.
 No one person or family owns a majority of the stock.
 In fact, it would take 500 of the largest shareholders pooled together to vote 51 per cent of the stock!
 These shareholders are the men and women whose money, in the form of capital, makes Swift & Company possible.
 They are jealous of the character and reputation of their organization, proud of what it is doing, proud to have a part in supplying to the world such products as Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon, Brookfield Sausage, Silverleaf Brand Pure Lard, Wool Soap, Swift & Company's fresh meats, etc.
 The executives of Swift & Company maintain the high standards of these products as an imperative duty not only to the 40,000 shareholders, but to the public.

THUNDER CAUSE OF ICE CREAM BEING INVENTED

(By Associated Press)
 DETROIT, Aug. 6.—A summer thunder shower 41 years ago resulted in our invention of the ice cream soda, according to Fred Sanders, Jr., of Detroit, whose father, Fred Sanders, claimed the distinction of having discovered this American invention. Speaking of his grandfather's discovery Mr. Sanders said:
 "Forty years ago the American people regarded ice cream much as the city that could not be painted. At that time they took it straight! By-ways were in general use to drink cream-soda but the ice cream with the and its many new additions were unknown. Carbonated water was used by the soda dispensers in a popular drink known as cream soda. Its chief ingredient was cream soda, which was the base."
 "The thunderstorm that brought about the grandfather's discovery came in the summer of 1880. He was conducting a soft drink parlor and the storm caused the water cream to be contaminated for some time. After the storm passed a wedding party dropped in and my grandfather volunteered to serve them and he forced a wedding drink. He tried cream soda and finally convinced all about himself with the ice cream soda of today."
